EMPIRE THEATRE

The return of William Hart was hailed with pleasure by the Labor Day patrons, and he can be seen again today in a typical Hart picture, "The Patrons."

Wednesday and Thursday will be big days at this theatre. The many persons who have been following "The Bull's Eye," would not miss the climax for the world. The final episode, shown on these two days, tells how Eddie Polo escaped apparently certain death, after he had been bound to a railroad track in front of an approaching train. He has received many hard knocks in the preceding installments, and everybody will want to see him triumph over the villains.

Off with the old; on with the new.
"The Bull's Eye" will give place to a new serial of 18 chapters, called "The Brave Bullet." It is based on Frank P.
Adams' great novel "Pleasure Island."

It features Juanita Hansen, pronounced the most beautiful girl in moving pictures, and Jack Mulhall, one of the handsomest young leading men in the business.

The feature picture is "Heiress For a Day." The story is about a young girl who is led to suppose that she has been left a large fortune, and who after basking in society's smiles and running head over heels in debt, discovers she is penniless.

"AN OFFICER'S" COMPLAINT

Anonymous Communication From Boston
Relative To Thomaston's Roll of Honor.

The Courier-Gazette is in receipt of a communication from Boston, signed "An Officer," enclosing a clipping from the Merchant Mariner, published by the U. S. Shipping Board, and another from The Courier-Gazette, describing the recent dedication of Thomaston's service flag. The clipping from the Merchant Mariner is headed, "A Mark of Honor," and says:

"On the honor roll at North Attleboro, Mass., just put on exhibition for the first time, the names of those who have enrolled in the Merchant Marine service appear in a separate column. This has been done," says the North Attleboro Chronicle, "because it was thought that they deserved recognition for the patriotic and heroic work they are doing."

The Thomaston report, however, referred to, has been started in eight places to indicate the names on the roll of honor of those who are serving with the Merchant Marine—principally in the capacity of officers. In the margin were written two additional names—Alfred Matthews, U. S. N. and A. Henry, licensed officer, U. S. Shipping Board.

"An Officer's" communication follows:

"I wish to state that there is quite a feeling among the Thomaston boys who are employed on the coast-guard of the hospital. Then another engine. There were convicts in and out all night and all day. A large body of men—those poor wretches just able to walk—would come shuffling in and would soon disperse to the tents. In the morning nearly everyone was up for first breakfast. The wards were a mess. Stretchers everywhere. Piles of blood-stained, mud-caked khaki under beds, dirty, smelly dressing, patients in all day long. The orderlies bathed the men the best they could, cut off the clothing and old bandages for us. We had two or three up-patients who were wonderful help feeders, men, holding limbs, carrying drinks, etc. As fast as we could, one lot of men seen by the M. O. and

WERE ON THE MONADNOCK

James Alexander of Camden and O. W. Littlefield of Augusta Meet After Fifty-Three Years.

"Is Mr. Littlefield in?" asked a man who rang a door bell at 67 Eastern avenue, August 28. In another moment James Alexander of Camden and O. W. Littlefield, two old naval cronies of the Civil War, stood face to face, the first time they had met in 53 years.

They were both sailors on the monitor Monadnock which took part in the battle of Fort Fisher, and they sat down and talked over for two hours the naval incidents of 1861. Mr. Alexander readily recognized his old friend, but Mr. Littlefield was several minutes in placing his comrade. Both are 75 years of age.

Mr. Alexander was born in North Haven and lived there on a small farm until he was 15 years old when he engaged in fishing and coastwise. He has spent the last 28 years in Camden.

"I am a sailor by profession, a painter by trade and a farmer by occupation," said Mr. Littlefield. He was for seven years a sailor before going into the navy, and went pretty much over the world. On the Monadnock he belonged to what is known as the crew of the captain's gig and Mr. Littlefield pulled the bow oar.

"There were 100 of us aboard the monitor, and it would be interesting to know how many are now living. I am expecting another Monadnock sailor or to call on me before long Byron W. Candage, a contractor at Seal Harbor. The Monadnock was a pretty good boat in those days. It was a two-tur-

DOZENS OF WHALES

Capt. Baines had an interesting experience Tuesday afternoon. He took a party of New York visitors to Carver's Harbor Monday night, and the next morning took them over towards Sea Island for deep sea fishing. They caught about 600 pounds of fish and were returning home to Camden when they ran into a school of whales about four or five miles off Hurricane Island.

The whales were chasing the herring and pollock and the sea was alive with the schools of small fish the whales were feeding on. The party counted 21 or 25 whales in all, and at times 2 or 3 of them were within 20 or 30 yards of the boat. Capt. Baines said he never had seen a whale before up in these parts though he has been going out fishing 40-odd years. It was a grand sight to see half a dozen whales sport- ing at once around them, and rushing at the smaller fish, eating them by the mouthful.—Camden Herald.

THOMASTON GIRL'S LETTER

Miss Hilda George, An Edith Cavell Memorial Nurse, Tells of Things Connected With a "Big Push."

[Readers of The Courier-Gazette recall the particulars printed in this paper in connection with the appointment of Miss Hilda George of Thomaston as an Edith Cavell Memorial nurse, her services being a gift from the State of Massachusetts to the British Army. Miss George has for many months been in active hospital service on the French front with the British Army. From one of her graphic letters written home this extract is made.]

So now I'll see what I can do about describing a big push. The biggest one I have been through was of course last March. I was rooming on the courtyard side of the building and heard all that was going on at night much more than I do now.

They would be coming in all night long, those heavy motor ambulances. The noise of one engine backing up to unload its men would be heard long enough to enable me to hear each of the four stretchers being removed. There would be a muffled sound of voices, a flash of a lantern, now and then an agonized cry and the tramp of the stretcher-bearers to different parts of the hospital. Then another engine. There were convicts in and out all night and all day. A large body of men—those poor wretches just able to walk—would come shuffling in and would soon disperse to the tents. In the morning nearly everyone was up for first breakfast. The wards were a mess. Stretchers everywhere. THAT BEALS HALL

Former Rockland Boy Writes About It From Far-Off California.

Editor of The Courier-Gazette: I note with interest the article in your issue of Aug. 2 under the heading, "Where is Beals Hall?"

I don't pretend to know where the hall is, or what has been done to it in fitting it for uses to which it is now put, but if not too greatly changed there may be some features in its original construction that will aid in its identification.

The building was quite long, with a pitch roof. It set well in from the southern side of Limerock street and was attached to the back part of the Commercial House, at a right angle to same, the side on Limerock street, and the gable end pointing towards Berry block. The hall had what was termed a "spring floor," i. e., the joists extending from side to side, unsupported by uprights from the floor beneath.

When used in the 60's by the Rockland High School the lower part of the structure was in one unpartitioned room and in arranging for school purposes a few uprights were placed under the upper floor to offset its "spring." One of these uprights, the one under the stove, used frequently to get knocked out, either accidentally or otherwise, giving the folks overhead something of a jolt.

APPRENTICES ARE HEALTHY

Men Training For Merchant Marine Are Well Looked After.

Only one death among 8500 men in a period of seven months, and a daily average sick rate of but one percent, is the health record of the apprentices trained for the Merchant Marine service on the Atlantic squadron of training ships maintained by the United States Shipping Board. This record, Shipping Board officials believe, has never been equaled in a training camp in war time. The medical department of the Board's training service is in charge of Dr. William A. Brooks, a famous old-time Harvard rowing coach, now a noted Boston surgeon.

Each of the 10 training ships of the Board is equipped with a modern hospital, in charge of a doctor and a staff of trained male nurses. The apprentices, who come from all sections of the country, are subjected to two strict medical examinations, one at their home towns and one at the training ship, before admission to the service. Inspection of the complements on the ships is also strict, and on the slightest sign of ill health an apprentice is sent to the hospital. Accident cases are handled on board, and only the few severe cases of sickness are sent to hospitals ashore.

Besides having a health record, the apprentices are natural huskies. After six weeks intensive training, working eight hours a day, they are sent to sea in merchant crews.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

Old-fashioned poetry, but chocky good.—Jack Walton.

THE PARENTS OF THE SOLDIERS

There's a common bond between them; they have seen their sons depart. They've felt the self-same aching in the region of the heart. They've seen the self-same visions, and they've worshipped at a shrine. Where a boy has talked of duty in a language that was fine. And they understand the meaning of the Flag and all the strife, For they're parents of a soldier who is offering his life.

The fathers and the mothers of the boys who've marched away to battle run; Are a little nearer Flanders than the rest of us, today. They are clasp'd to the cannons and the guns that loudly roar. And they neighbor with each other as they never did before. And as parents of the soldiers, more of war they've come to know. Than the loyal men and women who have had no son to go.

You can feel it when you're with them, feel they know far more than you. What it means to live for service, and to die for what is true. From the boys that they were proud of they have caught a vision rare. And have seen the real meaning of the struggle over there. And they know the hurt of absence and the pain of sacrifice. For the parents of the soldiers are the ones who pay the price.

They are standing on the hill tops as the tide of battle runs; Night and day, they watch the struggle, for it's their boys they sent their sons. Though it's our joy when they conquer, and our sorrow when they fall. They know more of grief and gladness, for they're closer to it all. They are closer to the glory and they're closer to the loss. And I think we're missing something who have had no sons to go.

AS TO CAMPAIGN METHODS

It will be difficult for persons even of good memory to recall a political campaign in which the Democratic managers of Maine have gone deeper into the mire than in the one now drawing to a close. No form of attack upon Republicans, either directly or by innuendo, has been too reprehensible for them to employ. The Kennebec Journal from a stenographic report of a speech made in Bath by Elmer E. Newbert, Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, quotes this sample:

"There are just two men in Maine who will vote for Milliken:
"One is a very old man who can't change his mind.
"One is a man who has softening of the brain."

Commenting upon this characteristic piece of campaign propaganda the Journal adds:

Governor Milliken is recognized everywhere as a gentleman of high character and lofty principles. Even his opponent in the gubernatorial contest acknowledges that. He is being cordially and enthusiastically supported by a great portion of the electorate of Maine, men of high intelligence and patriotic motives. In his administration of State affairs, he has won the praise of every man who knows the details of his work, and the unqualified approval of the administration officials at Washington, who have been brought in contact with him and know of his prompt and loyal efforts to assist the Government in the great war crisis.

And the Journal says in concluding comment, which will receive cordial endorsement by the great majority of the patriotic electorate: "The above extract is a fair sample of the kind of abusive campaign which is being carried on against him. The people on September 9th will give their answer to that kind of a charge, both in the vote which they give to the Governor, and in the vote which they do not give to Mr. Newbert."

This paper is to pursue its announced purpose in the campaign now come to its concluding week. It will carry no abuse of candidates, no wanton attacks upon those of opposing political views. We confess that the provocation has been strong to resort in kind to the shameful tactics pursued by the Democratic press and speakers, but we pass it by, convinced that the thinking voters of Maine are placing a proper value upon such indecent forms of campaigning. We still hold to the opinion that in these grave times of war, partisan politics are of only minor importance, and that the Republican Governor of Maine and the Republican Senator and Congressmen who have so loyally supported a Democratic President are going to have that high exhibition of patriotism endorsed by the overwhelming vote of the people.

If you buy a $100 bond of the Fourth Liberty Loan you are lending the United States Government enough money to feed a soldier in France a little more than seven months. Or you have furnished enough money to give him a complete outfit of winter and summer clothes, including shoes and stockings, and slicker and overcoat and blankets, with enough left over to arm him with a good revolver. You have done that much to beat back the Hun. It takes $50 more to arm him with a rifle with a bayonet on it, and if you buy a second $100 bond you furnish him this rifle and 1,000 cartridges for it; and there will still be enough of your money left to purchase a good-sized bomb to throw in a duzot, or demolish a machine gun together with the Huns operating it.

The absence of a speaking campaign in Knox county is in line with the policy of the Republicans throughout the State, in the belief wisely entertained that the people are not in the spirit of partisan politics. The small attendance upon Democratic meetings has justified this opinion. But lack of such meetings will not affect the Republicans of this county, who have a ticket made up of candidates representative of the best farmers and business and professional men of the community, admirably complementing the heads of the ticket represented in the gubernatorial and national nominees. The voting strength of the party will be fully in evidence next Monday, joining hands with the patriotic forces throughout Maine.

When we vote to retain Wallace H. White, Jr. in Congress we register our approval of the exalted patriotism of a Republican who in a time of great national peril laid partisanship to one side and lent loyal support to President Wilson's war administration. That is the sort of statesmanship now representing Maine's Second District, and the kind of man whose patriotism the voters will feel it a privilege to endorse by re-electing him.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER TWELVE

The Date on Which Men From 18 to 45 Must Register For Selective Draft.—Names of the Knox County Registrars.

Thirteen general service men leave at 1:30 this afternoon for Camp Devens, and 23 limited service men go at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon to Camp Upton. Warren L. Whitney of Warren is succeeded in the latter list by John F. Berry of Camden.

Thursday, Sept. 12, the date for registration for the army draft of all men in the United States between the ages of 18 and 45 inclusive who have not already registered or who are not now in the military or naval service.

In a proclamation issued immediately after he signed the new man-power bill President Wilson called on the younger and older men to enroll on that day with local draft boards where they make their permanent homes.

The hours of registration will be from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., and all state and local officials are called on to make immediate arrangements for maintenance of registration places on that day. All men within the new ages, whether citizens of the United States or not, must register unless they are diplomatic or consular representatives of foreign nations.

In case of illness on the registration day, arrangements for tardy enrollment may be made with Local Boards and men who expect to be absent from their homes may register by mail sufficiently in advance so that the registration record will reach the board by Sept. 12. If a man has no permanent residence he is to register at the place where he is on Sept. 12, and those out of the country on that day are required to enroll within five days after their return.

The officials who will have charge of the registrars in Knox county are:

Appleton—Benjamin J. Ness, chief registrar.

Camden—John T. Smyth, chief registrar.

Upon another page is printed the official ballot that the voters of Knox county are to deal with next Monday.

We recommend its careful study by everybody who is to pass upon its candidates. There are changes in the rules for voting, regulating the matter of dealing with candidates separately. A cross in the square at the top of the ballot votes the straight party ticket, or crosses can be made opposite the name of each candidate, allowing the splitting of tickets without stickers, whose use is no longer permitted. These rules are fully set forth at the head of the ballot and it is well to become familiar with them before one goes into the voting booth.

W. S. White, who recently sold his residence on Broadway and Middle streets to Glenn A. Lawrence, has moved to the home of his son, Lieut. Commander William T. White, corner of Main and Middle streets.

The luxuriant growth of the tropics is seen in the garden of Andrew Anderson at Cribhaven. Mr. Anderson sent to the Courier-Gazette office Saturday a turnip stalk which was 34 inches long, and a cabbage leaf which measured 26x25 1/2 inches.

Writing from 2539 9th avenue, East Oakland, Calif., in renewal of subscription to The Courier-Gazette, Mrs.
Isabelle Palmer Dermal says: "I most gladly do this, for I am more and more interested in the paper because of its patriotism."

The attention of the local authorities has been directed by the War Department to the new Army and Navy regulations which make it a federal crime to practice prostitution within 10 miles of any military or naval post, or to aid or abet it by any means whatsoever.

The prominence of the naval officials who come to Rockland as members of the Trial Board is again demonstrated by the fact that Rear Admiral Henry E. Wilson one of the recent presidents of the Board, has just been promoted to vice admiral, in command of part of the Atlantic fleet.

The city's volcano opposite the Tillson-White estate on Main street burst forth anew last Friday, and two streams of water were used to subdue it. It is a particularly offensive smudge fire and the left ear of whoever started it must be well nigh shriveled by this time.

The government's "request" that automobile pleasure riding be refrained from on Sunday was fairly well observed in Rockland, particularly by local owners of cars. A subscriber is somewhat indignant to think that such a large percentage of the cars which did not comply were occupied by Naval Reserves, who were manifestly joy riding. "If civilians are willing to keep their cars in the garage on the only day that most of them travel," he says,
"the Naval Reserves who ride nearly all of the time ought to be willing to do what is asked by the government they are serving."

Dhal Bhat, or the Hindu at Home, which was presented by the Methodist church with such pronounced success
last winter, was repeated at Park Theatre Wednesday and Thursday for the benefit of the Red Cross. The sum of $275 was netted. The task of reproducing in vacation time a spectacle of this magnitude, entailed a great amount of labor for Rev. Melville E.
Osborne, A. W. Gregory and the others who had it in charge, and it is distinctly to their credit that the two performances were given in such fine style. "Dhal Bhat" is a missionary play in 12 scenes, with a very large cast of characters, representing the real life of the Hindu in India. The play was reported at a considerable length in this paper when first given,
and in the reproduction the principals and other members of the cast lived up to the excellent reputation which they then earned. Alvah Staples appeared as "Mul Raj" in place of Edward Gonia and proved a worthy successor. An unexpected pleasure was afforded Wednesday night by Mr.
Gonia's appearance in one of the tableaux. The training ship Galva Austria, on which he is serving as second mate,
happened to be in port on that day, and Mr. Gonia gladly consented to be in at the finish. A special word is deserved for little Winola Richan, who left a sick bed in order that she might take her important place in the cast.
Among the new members of the cast were Kathleen and Dorothy Snow, who appeared as women servants of "Mul Raj" and William Butman, who appeared as one of the children of "Dr.
Anderson."

mile of a fish weir near Hewett's Island. Respondents pleaded guilty and

RACING CRAFT SINKS U-BOAT

Adriatic Sea Engagement Shown In Ten Reels of Italian War Films.

One of the most dramatic and exciting scenes of the Italian government's official war pictures, "The Italian Battlefront," is the next big show playing at Prescott's Theatre.
It picturing the destruction of an Austrian submarine in the Adriatic by a powerful speed boat of the Italian army.

The first scenes of the film are those showing Italy's mountain warfare in the snow-clad Alps, thousands of feet above the level of the sea. These Alps scenes are beautiful beyond comparison, and lift the films to a much higher plane than war pictures have ever reached before.

The second part of "The Italian Battlefront" is taken up entirely with the fall of Gorizia, the immense Austrian fortress which was supposed to be impregnable. The scenes of this mighty struggle are intensely dramatic and interesting. Thousands of men, horses and automobiles are seen in action.

WERE ON THE FIRING LINE

Stars in Great Movie Production
"Hearts of the World," Had Narrow Escapes.

Under actual fire in the British and French trenches at intervals covering a period of more than 18 months, was the nerve-racking experience of Lillian and Dorothy Gish, noted motion picture stars, who with their mother, recently completed David Wark Griffith to the very front line trenches of France to secure the important scenes for "Hearts of the World," the new Griffith masterpiece to be seen at Park Theatre Sept. 5, 6, 7.

In one instance the attack lasted four hours. It is interesting also to learn that Mr. Griffith was the first American to enter the front line trenches. This was of course before the United States entered the world-war.

And yet the very surprise of the Griffith production is the fact that it is not, in any sense, a war picture. On the contrary, Mr. Griffith himself describes his work as "a love story of the war." It is further stated that for more than 40 minutes after the story begins, one sees only a picture of peaceful, happy country life, such as one might have found in a small French village before the war broke out. The war that comes after merely serves as a background for the drama. Yet while the picture is not propaganda in any sense of the word,
it is a terrific arraignment of the Germans that its principal appeal is said to be something sublime, and it arouses the most intense feeling of sympathy for the unfortunate victims of the millions of war who were crushed between the opposing armies—adv.

Paper Clothing.
Paper clothing has long been known,
sometimes for its cussedness, but recently there was discovered a method of waterproofing cloth made from wood pulp which greatly increases the life of the garment. Some paper cloth is brittle, but there is one variety known to the Japanese which will withstand 37,500 foldings without breaking.

English Women guaranteeing next Year's Food Supply

Care for the Crazy. In the Orient the crazy man is a privileged person, to be tolerated, given food, allowed to go where he will, but never cured. He is supposed to be a peculiarly "holy person." But it is Americans, says World Outlook, who in 1872 founded the first hospital for the insane east of Suez—the Kerr Refuge at Canton, with 600 patients, who come from all classes; here you will find the mandarin, the colonel and beggar. Of them 39 per cent are reported as recovered.

Make Your Mind Master. To make your life count you must begin now. The youth who applies himself has the best advantage. But it often happens that bright young folks have to play the fool for a few years to learn the value of opportunities. Some of them never get over it. They are the ones who know it all and resent advice from their betters. But anyone can rise if he wants to. Set the proper task and see that it's realized. Make your mind master and the result will be to your credit.

A war saver is a life-saver.

"THE STORY OF A VILLAGE"

"Hearts of the World" Contains Vivid War Pictures, But Is a Pretty Love Romance.

The biggest event in the entire season in the world of motion pictures will be the presentation of D. W. Griffith's latest film masterpiece, "Hearts of the World," at Park Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Hearts of the World" required 48 months in the making and many of the scenes were taken on the actual battlefields of France by Mr. Griffith, with the official aid and assistance of the British and the French governments. Mr. Griffith, however, is anxious to remove any apprehension that "Hearts of the World" is primarily a war picture. It is, he announces, a love story, in which war figures as the grim background. It may be called "the story of a village," and for more than 30 minutes during the exposition of the story, there is not a cannon shot, not a suggestion of war's alarms.

There is the pretty romance of two girls each in love with the same man; there is the quiet and peaceful atmosphere of a small French town before the holocaust of the war. Then comes the conflict, with its ensuing effects upon the fortunes of these in the little village. The battle scenes shown are actual battle scenes taken right in the trenches during the death struggles of the French and the Germans; only occasionally has it been found necessary to piece the story of the battles together by means of acted scenes.

Thus one sees the life in the trenches—the charges of the French soldiers; the thrilling battle to hand conflicts and the thrust of bayonets; the murder of the shells; the great guns in action; the tanks; the attack by liquid fire; the charges and the retreats; the German pill-boxes; the flight of the villagers; the ruthless destruction of property; the treatment of young girls who fall into the hands of the Germans; and other things too numerous to mention, the whole culminating in the arrival of the American troops, of ultimate victory and a hint of future happiness for those who have endured this terrible struggle.

While "Hearts of the World" deals with war and love, it is a drama rather than a propaganda film. Yet no one can sit through his wonderful pictorial representation of the tragedy of bleeding France, without going forth more determined than ever that the conflict must be won, that the Allies must triumph over their adversaries, and that such grim horrors of war must never happen again in the history of the world.

Prominent in the cast are the beautiful Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy, Robert Harron, George Fawcett, George Seaman, and other well-known players—adv.

STRETCHING PARIS TO MEET THE NEEDS OF FRANCE

THE RED CROSS HAS HELPED WHERE GOVERNMENTS WERE HELPLESS.

The avalanche of refugees that swept into Paris from the north of France had been the despair of the civil authorities. These homeless, stunned people were a new responsibility to be added to the thousands of wounded men that came steadily from the shambles of the west front.

Paris is an old city. It was not ready to take in its neighbors' children. Its population was already a tight fit. So it made the best of its poor hospitality by offering up its garrets. New building construction seemed impossible. Men were scarce. The mechanic was either manning the trenches or fighting the fight in the war factories. Paris was distracted.

It is a wonderful indeed how nobly Paris tried to meet this condition. And it is remarkable how Paris met it with the aid of our own Red Cross. Unhindered by red tape or precedent, our Red Cross put on overalls and jumper, carried the load, became architect, engineer and contractor and went into the building of homes. Here was a church lot that lay vacant; here an unfinished hospital; there a worn out building, all of which in a fortnight were started on their way toward new apartments, rooms and sleeping wards.

We here at home who associate the great Red Cross movement with bandages and white gowned nurses must lose this old illusion in the light of a thousand other works for humanity. In this case we see the Red Cross first as diplomats convincing the civil authorities of Paris as to their ability to remedy the situation, then as architects remodeling buildings, changing building plans, hiring labor gathered by themselves from the ex-soldiers and the older man, all the while working under every imaginable handicap, while Father Time cried, "Get it done, get it done."

So out of the garrets came these despairing people to find new hope in clean homes, to get new cheer out of sheer bodily comfort and fresh courage to again take up the great trust that France has kept so well—"to carry on." It is not strange that our French brothers believe in your own Red Cross just a little more than you do. But should this be?

THE RED CROSS MAN

By AMELIA JOSEPHINE BURR. Of the Vigilantes.

Broken with pain and weariness And sapped with vile disease, Back to the land of ruined towns, Of murdered men and trees, Through Switzerland from Germany The trains of wreckage ran,— And on the French frontier they found A Red Cross Man.

And when to what had once been home Those haggard exiles came, Young wheat was green above the scars Of steel and blood and flame Round new built houses where once more The work of life began. And still they found to welcome them A Red Cross Man.

There the husband clasped again The wife he mourned as dead— The child was on its mother's breast, The old were comforted. What wonder if they hope to find The Angel of God's Plan Who meets them at the heavenly gate A Red Cross Man!

WHAT YOUR DOLLARS DO

One Hundred Cents' Worth of Mercy and Relief for Every War Fund Dollar.

Your Red Cross dollars—every cent of every Red Cross dollar—actually relieves suffering—actually goes as you give it, for war relief. Not one cent of any contribution goes into Red Cross administration expenses—the overhead of War Fund administration is more than covered by the interest accruing from the banking of the funds. All relief work not pertaining to the war is simply covered by the normal revenues of the Red Cross through membership dues.

Your answer to humanity's cry—your donation to war relief—includes not only the care and restoration of the wounded. It is a mission of mercy to the famished, the homeless and helpless, the lame, the halt, and the blind—all the victims of war that appeal to the heart of mankind.

The relief of invalided soldiers, relief of the mutilated and blind, training of crippled soldiers for useful pursuits—relief service for the care and revival of soldiers on furlough from the front—relief of children throughout devastated territory—relief of dependent families of soldiers—relief to prisoners in Germany—relief among repatriated people returning to France—children's refugees and hospitalizations—these are among the divisions of organized work that carries practical aid to its every object in a wide field of activity. Its scope embraces Russia, Roumania, Serbia, Italy and Armenia—besides the great field of France.

Your donation makes this great mission of mercy your own. The Red Cross carries 100 cents' worth of aid for every dollar donated.

THIS IS THE TRUE RED CROSS SPIRIT

A Little Story With a Big Thought in It.

A month ago the Red Cross chapter in Bay City, Mich., received a hurried call for 150 dunnage bags. Troops were about to move, and through an oversight their equipment was not complete. The bags had to be made and sent within 48 hours. A request for help was sent over the town, and the stores were searched successfully for the right materials. Among those who quickly responded and came to the chapter workrooms to help were two little girls, sisters, about ten and twelve years of age, each eager to lend a hand and do something for the boys who were going to the front. All day long the fingers of the women and the little girls were fairly flying. Bag after bag received the last stitch until scores were piled up ready for shipment. Closing time came, and the woman superintending the making of the bags counted those completed and announced that if every one of the workers could come early the next morning and work all day the bags would surely be finished in time for shipping by evening. Two crestfallen little girls, the little sisters, were waiting for her at the door as she departed.

Red Cross Dunnage Bags. "We are awfully sorry, ma'am," said the older of the two, "but we can't come back tomorrow. You see tomorrow we have to—." And, without finishing the sentence, she looked back wistfully at the pile of bags. "It is too bad you can't come back," said the superintending, "but I want to thank you, and we all thank you, for the work you've done today. You two have been a wonderful help, and that pile of bags wouldn't be nearly so big if you hadn't been here. Good night."

The next morning when the superintending came down to unlock the workrooms for the day she was astonished to see the two little girls standing in the cold by the locked door. "Oh, I'm so glad to see you!" she said. "I thought you said you couldn't come?" "Oh, we knew those Red Cross bags just had to be finished for the soldiers," exclaimed the little one, with glittering eyes, "and we got up at three o'clock this morning and got the washing done early!"

SUPPLYING FRENCH HOSPITALS. The Red Cross hospital supply service in France has 16 warehouses filled with drugs, medicines, surgical instruments and dressings. It serves 3,423 French military hospitals.

Question of Certainty. "Quite a number of persons have asked me of late if my niece is going to marry a certain young man," admitted the Old Codger. "I have been obliged to tell them that she is and she isn't. You see, while she is certain that she is going to marry him, he will be an uncertain young man until after it has happened to him."

A Soldier's Letter

From Somewhere in France under date of Aug. 4, Private Kenneth Knight of Rockport writes a letter to his parents which we are permitted to print:

"Dear Father and Mother—This is a good deal like places around here. The poor people don't know what they are going to do. Their crops have been frost-bitten, the same as they were at home. We have opened quarters and are staying in a barn that was built about two thousand years ago, but we sleep like pigs. We had fine weather on the ship but I was sorry they had about two days. I have been in two countries so far. Most of the buildings of the poor people are of cement and stones, the others are of brick. You ought to see the donkeys. You see a big load coming and when you get quite near you find out it is a pack of the cattle are different breed from ours, all white and built like an ox. I wish you could see the system and the homes in which the people live, it seems so different from America. We rode about 40 miles through the wheat and grain country and you can't imagine what crops they raise. I saw about 50 flocks of partridges along the road and a lot of rabbits.

"Most all the people wear wooden shoes and everything is very behind the times. They have the best roads in France that I ever saw; they have them even in the country. We see flying machines all the time, kind of odd at first, but you soon get used to it. You'd laugh to see a bunch of fellows standing around some gate trying to learn. They are quite lucky to be with some fellows who speak the language. We don't get any papers, but some of the fellows go out, and they hear some news. The Americans are driving the Germans. It is wonderful how the U. S. A. is getting along in this war. The business is marked by its usual sociability, the only peculiarity noticeable being that which came from the ocean and drove the family from the chilly grove into the open sun. These officers were elected:

President—E. J. Kallio, Warren. Vice President—E. A. Kallio, Thomaston; D. M. Kellar, West Rockport; H. P. Kallio, Thomaston's Harbor; Everett Kallio, South Thomaston; L. F. Kallio, Warren.

Secretary and Treasurer—Miss Mary E. Kallio, Warren.

The Burrows family
The 8th annual reunion of the Burrows family was held at Oakland Park Wednesday, with 20 in attendance.

While the distinguishing red badges were not quite so numerous as in former years, the gathering was marked by its usual sociability, the only peculiarity noticeable being that which came from the ocean and drove the family from the chilly grove into the open sun. These officers were elected:

President—Rufus E. Burrows, Thomaston. Vice President—S. J. Burrows, Waldoboro.

Secretary and Treasurer—L. L. Mank, Waldoboro.

It was voted to meet at the same place on the last Wednesday of August, 1919.

The Hills family
The Hills family is also getting along in years. Its reunion at Oakland Park Wednesday was its 35th and about 50 were present. Warren Hills of Union, who is chairman of the obituary committee was not present because of severe illness, but an informal report showed that there have been three deaths during the year. E. H. Clarry of Union presided over the business meeting, at which these officers were chosen:

President—E. H. Clarry. Vice Presidents—Herbert S. Hills, Union, and Frank B. Hills, Thomaston.

Secretary and Treasurer—L. J. Hills, Warren.

Obituary Committee—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leifert, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hills, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hills, Thomaston; Mr. and Mrs. George Hills, Union; and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Grinnell, Camden.

The Wilson-Teel Families
The Wilson and Teel reunion was held at the Frank H. Towle grove Wednesday with a gathering of over 30 members and guests. A beautiful table was set and all partook heartily of the shore dinner, after which music, singing and fortune telling was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cushman opened their house and gave the use of the organ and parlor for the entertainment. Mrs. Lindsey of Rockland made remarks which were greatly appreciated. The oldest member present was Rufus Teel, who has passed the four-score years. The chaplain, Capt. Joel Hupper, being absent, Rev. Guy Vannah filled the vacancy in a most pleasing manner. Through a misunderstanding the committee on location neglected to send tables, dishes and tablecloths. Mrs. Cushman and Mrs. Raynes kindly loaned their tables and dishes, which were very much appreciated. Mrs. Bert Simmons invited the reunion to meet on her grounds next August, the last Thursday of which everyone approved. All said it was the best reunion ever.

Only about 30 members were present at the 23rd annual reunion of the Annis family, which was held at Oakland Park Wednesday, and the business meeting was consequently omitted. Cecil H. Annis of Rockport is president and George Fish of North Hope is secretary and treasurer. It was voted to meet at the same place next year, the date being the fourth Wednesday.

The Maxey family
The 29th annual reunion of the Maxey family was held Tuesday at Penobscot View Grange hall, Glenview, the oldest person present being Mrs. Harriet Payson of Camden, whose 85 winters and summers still lightly on her. Almon Bird Sullivan of Rockland and Miss Marjorie L. Swift of Augusta, Lieut. Raymond W. Swift, a brother of the bride, and his wife, were to have attended the couple, but Lieut. Swift was unable to obtain leave of absence from his duties at Camp Devens.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard A. Welch of the Littlefield Memorial church, Rockland. The bride's white, georgette gown of crepe, and she carried a bouquet of rosemary. The guests were Mayor and Mrs. Willis E. Swift of Augusta, parents of the bride; Mrs. M. H. NEW WHEAT REGULATIONS

You Can Now Buy Four Pounds of Wheat Flour To One of Substitutes.—Sixty Days' Supply Permitted In Place of Thirty.

According to a telegram received from Washington by Federal Food Administrator Merrill it is desired to insure a supply of ready mixed flour on the market and to have millers and dealers of all kinds encourage the use and sale of this flour so that the country may be able to get along without the necessity of retailers making combination sales of flour and substitutes.

The recent careful survey by the Food Administration of the United States, France, England, and Italy of the food resources of the 220,000,000 people fighting against Germany shows that to maintain enough supplies and necessary reserves against disaster there must be maintained in all countries a conservation of wheat flour during the coming year.

It has been agreed that the wheat bread of the Allies shall contain 20% other grains than wheat and that the just that we should bear our share in this saving and our bread should be at least universal with those who have been suffering more greatly from the war than ourselves.

We must use the fact that mixtures outlined by the new regulations are for wheat bread and the saving of wheat flour, but they are not intended to displace the large use of corn bread with wheat flour in addition to our normal consumption of corn bread.

The regulations effective Sept. 1, provide:

First.—For the preparation and marketing by the manufacturing and distribution trades of the country of a mixed flour complying with the international policy which will be available for the purchase by the household.

Second.—In regulations covering the case where straight flour is sold by retailers that at the same time 20% of other cereal flour must be sold concurrently.

Third.—Requiring that all bakers' bread shall contain 20% of other cereals and the Food Administration relies upon the householders of the country to mix at least 20% of the substitute cereals into the wheat flour at home for all uses.

Corn meal for use of corn bread should be purchased separately from combination sales.

The new regulations supercede the "Fifty-Fifty" rule. The retail dealer selling standard wheat flour is required to carry in stock either barley flour, corn meal or corn flour and with every sale of wheat flour must sell a combination of some one or more of these in the proportion of one pound of substitutes to each four pounds of wheat flour.

No dealer may force any other substitutes in combination upon the consumer and these substitutes must conform to the standards fixed by the United States Food Administration.

ON FALSE TESTIMONY

Mrs. Sadie Newbert's Pardon Sought On the Ground That Mrs. Crouse Lied At the Murder Trial.

L. M. Staples of Washington appeared before the Governor and Council Thursday in behalf of a pardon for Mrs. Sadie Newbert of Thomaston, who is serving a life sentence in the State prison for the murder of her husband on Nov. 15, 1909 by the administration of strychnine in his food. The matter was continued for the introduction of further evidence.

Mr. Staples stated that Mrs. Newbert was really convicted on the sole testimony of one witness, a Mrs. Nellie Crouse, whose unreliability and untruthfulness as a witness was then unknown to the jury and by whom the prisoner's case was prejudiced with the jury.

He stated that Mrs. Newbert's reputation was good. She was poor and had an invalid husband, for whose support she worked long and hard. Their relations were always pleasant. He was peevish and often said he would end his life because he was a drag upon his wife. He was addicted to the use of cocaine and other drugs, such as arsenic and strychnine, having a bad heart trouble.

The home was infested with rats and Mrs. Newbert had often bought strychnine with which to kill off the pests. At the time of the murder, she bought some at a store and Mrs. Crouse also said that she had bought some and gave it to Mrs. Newbert. "I haven't words at my command," said Attorney Staples, "to describe the atrocity and general coarseness of this Mrs. Crouse. She swore falsely about being at the Newbert home that night and what she saw."

"I believe Mrs. Newbert was wrongly convicted. If released she will never be a burden to anyone, as kind people are ready to give her a home and she is able to support herself."

Senator Staples presented a number of letters, speaking of Mrs. Newbert as a model prisoner and recommending a pardon, including one from the then warden of the prison, E. H. Waterhouse, Chaplain Allen, and others, and a long list of petitioners.

Former County Attorney Howard,

There are some localities where other substitutes are available and which retailers may wish to carry. In order to meet this situation the following flour may also be sold in such combination in lieu of the above flours, if the consumer so demands, at the ratio of one pound to each four pounds of wheat flour. The substitutes are: kafir flour, milo flour, feterita flour and meals, rice flour, oat flour, peanut flour, bean flour, potato flour, sweet potato flour and buckwheat flour.

Pure rye flour or meal may be sold as a substitute but must be sold in proportion of at least two pounds of rye with every three pounds of wheat flour.

Bakers' Regulations. In compliance with the general situation the following alterations are made in rules and regulations governing the baking trade.

Rule I. "A."—The consumption of wheat flour in bakery products not to exceed 70% of the 1917 consumption is hereby rescinded.

Rule II. "A."—Wheat flour substitutes for bakers remain as heretofore, with the exception of rye which will be a substitute when used upon a basis of not less than 40%, which is two pounds of rye flour to every three pounds of standard wheat flour. When rye is used in this proportion, or a greater proportion, no other substitutes are required. If less than this proportion of rye flour is used, the difference between such amount and 40% must be made up of other substitutes.

Rule VI. "A."—Bakers will be required to use one pound of substitutes to each four pounds of wheat flour in all bakery products including bread, except Class III "A" Crackers, in which only 20% substitutes other than rye are required.

The use of the name Victory will be allowed in all products containing the above proportions of substitutes.

Sixty Days' Supply. The previous rule limiting licensed millers, wholesalers, retailers and bakers to 30 days' supply of flour will be changed to permit a 60 days' supply.

The rules limiting the sale by retailers of wheat flour to an eight of a barrel in cities and a quarter barrel in sparsely settled districts are rescinded. The rule limiting the sale of flour by millers to wholesalers or wholesalers to retailers in combination with substitutes of certified flour, and the rule restricting the sale to 70% previous sales are rescinded.

Manufacturers of alimentary pastes and wheat breakfast foods are limited to their normal consumption of wheat or wheat flour with the understanding that they are not to unduly change their ordinary consumption of wheat.

Rules prohibiting the starting of new plants ready for operation prior to July 1, 1918 are rescinded.

Where millers sell directly to consumers they shall observe the same regulations as retail dealers.

who prosecuted the case, wrote that one of the State's witnesses (Mrs. Crouse) was not of a high order, but below the average.

Justice Spear, who presided at the trial wrote that he should give her the benefit of the doubt as to whether or not Mrs. Crouse did not bring the strychnine to Newbert and he committed suicide.

Former Clerk of Courts G. B. Butler wrote that he would hardly want to call by name the witness whose reputation for reliability is very bad and he still feels a grave doubt of Mrs. Newbert's guilt.

Mrs. Mattie M. Winkworth of Rockland testified that she had often employed Mrs. Newbert at her home. The latter was industrious and did everything for her husband's comfort. She had often heard Newbert complain at his lot and say he was a burden on his wife and would willingly end it all. He used arsenic and strychnine for heart trouble.

She had heard Mrs. Crouse advise Newbert to take more of the poisonous remedies to build him up. She had once advised taking lead arsenate, which he tried but had to stop on account of its effects. She said Mrs. Crouse's reputation was very bad and she was now in confinement for arson.

She said she would give Mrs. Newbert a home and had the means to do it. If necessary, Mrs. Newbert was able and could get all the work she wished.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Harriman of Rockland knew all the parties and testified to Mrs. Newbert's good character and reputation and the opposite for Mrs. Crouse.

Understanding Hearts.

If you see a man smiling to himself a crowd don't imagine that he is crazy, says a writer. Usually such are the sanest of individuals and possess an enviable appreciation of themselves. They do not need to be influenced by exterior conditions and circumstances in order to call forth that spirit of gladness which lies deep within the soul. It is far more profitable to try to imitate such persons than to mock at or to pity them.

SUGAR "SMUGGLERS" FACE HEAVY FINE JAIL SENTENCES

Canada Plans Rigid Enforcement of New Sugar Regulations—Customs Officers Will Act Against Violators

Orono, Me., Aug. 3.—Report that the Canadian Government is placing no restrictions on the use of sugar and that the citizens of this country, merely by crossing the border, may purchase in large amounts, are emphatically denied by the United States Food Administration.

The Canadian Food Board recently issued a statement calling for a reduction of Canadian sugar consumption to one and one-half pounds per person per month, half a pound being the "normal ration" requested in this country by the United States Food Administration. All regulations governing the use or holding of sugar will be rigidly enforced, the Canada Food Board has declared.

It is taking strict measures to prevent hoarding, in most cases imposing a jail sentence as well as a heavy fine. Manufacturers are strictly curtailed in their use of sugar and householders are prohibited from purchasing in quantities which would warrant consumption of more than the requested allowance.

Citizens of this country would be running a serious risk if they attempted to purchase sugar in Canada. Although restrictions there are placed upon the purchaser rather than upon the retail dealer, severe penalties are provided for attempted exportation to the United States without an individual export license from the Canadian War Trade Board, which will grant export licenses only in cases which meet with the approval of this government. Supplementary action along this line has been taken by the United States War Trade Board, which has prohibited importation without an individual import license. Persons attempting to bring sugar from Canada to this country would be faced with the possibility of heavy fines and jail sentences should they be apprehended by the customs authorities of either country.

THE COMMON TABLE

To the average American the question of food has been mainly one of purchasing from the nearest grocer and butchering what appetite and income dictate. Where that food comes from, how much there is of it in the world, how universal its consumption, has been none of his concern. He could get what he wanted if he could pay for it and nothing else mattered.

BEEF RESTRICTIONS REMOVED

The extreme drought in the great cattle country in the Southwest and certain states in the Northwest, is endangering the meat herds (in these cattle producing sections. As an immediate result, the present cattle runs are 50 per cent heavier than the corresponding period of last year. The larger part of this stock is below the most desirable market weights and would normally remain on the ranges until it has attained a larger growth. So far as is possible these cattle are being moved to sections where conditions of grass, grain and water are more favorable. The surplus must, however, be handled.

The Food Administration therefore is for the present releasing the meat restrictions. This is about one month earlier than was originally contemplated. It is desired, however, to continue the same careful regard for economy in beef and in all essential foods as a measure to safeguard the future. The desire of the Food Administration is to induce a preference in favor of the lighter weights of cattle, of which we have an abnormal surplus. This will bring about conservation of the heavier cattle needed for our soldiers.

SUGAR KITCHEN CARD

Every housewife throughout Maine and every other state knows there is a sugar shortage. Perhaps she has gone to the grocery store in a hurry to give a 25 pound order of sugar for canning and preserving and has been told she must sign a certificate. Or perhaps she has asked for a five or 10 pound bag of granulated sugar for cooking and table use and has had strangely meted out to her a one or two pound bag.

"Do tell us, then, exactly how much sugar we may have and help us to make that go round," is the universal cry. And that is exactly what the Food Administration wants to do.

Every territory, down to the smallest town or hamlet, has a local Food Administrator who is issuing the national rulings as fast as they come to him from Washington or from Orono. The present maximum sugar ration for household use is two pounds per person per month. This means one ounce per day or about 6 2-3 level teaspoonsful. Put that on your kitchen card where you can see it from time to time. Do remember that our soldiers need sugar more than we do and that their supply must be saved in American homes.

Persian and African Donkeys.

Two species of the Caucasian donkey, the one from Persia, the other from Africa, says a nature student, Persia is also responsible for the proud mountaineers' fondness for chicken. Our European ancestors got their roosters at some time during the historic period. Finally the famous Caucasus sheep took one day their departure from the broad plains situated between Persia and the Caspian sea.

Temperance Notes

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

WHY UNCLE SAM CHOSE ROCKFORD.

"Dry Rockford, Ill., has the reputation of buying and consuming more groceries than any other city of like population in the United States," says Frank S. Regan. "When we quit drinking we all went to eating."

"Stores that used to rent for $50 per month now rent in best locations for $250 to $300 per month."

"Twenty thousand people came to Rockford before the army camp came here and they came from all over the country. The fact Rockford was dry was very often stated as the reason they came. Wet cities in this part of the state saw the handwriting on the wall and went dry themselves. The Nelson hotel which had a bar and was so because some $16,000 revenue was cut off when we voted prohibition, instead of going 'busted' went 'full' of guests, saw several new hotels go up in Rockford and is now building a fire-proof addition to double its capacity."

"Being being drawn for other and better hotels than all of them. Grocery stores had thousands of dollars on their books as bad debts and dead-beat accounts galore when we had saloons. Now they are selling for cash instead of credit and one grocery collected $11,000 worth of dead-beat accounts out of a total of $13,000 without the assistance of an attorney. Money rolled into the banks until they built a nice new bank building to house a brand-new national bank, and so it goes."

Saloonkeepers have all settled down in other lines of business and are prospering in their new fields or are living off the increase of real estate values and rents.

"Every man and woman in America who has a son in Camp Grant is more than pleased their son is located in a dry town."

"And so is your Uncle Sam."

THE NATION PAYS THE PRICE.

I. He was twenty-one; was 5 feet 11 inches tall; weighed 165; had scarcely known a sick day; was morally clean, physically perfect; did not know the taste of intoxicating liquors; was the joy of his mother, the hope of his father, the ideal of his friends.

He volunteered.

Uncle Sam received him with open arms and put him in the front line of battle. Today he fills an unknown grave.

A STORY WITH A MORAL FOR AMERICA.

Mr. Edwards, M. P., recently stated at an assembly of the Scottish Temperance league, Glasgow, that at a recruiting meeting he was approached by a young man, who asked whether government would look after the wives and children of those who enlisted? He was assured that government would. He enlisted, and was passed on in due course to the trenches, where, after months of good service, he was wounded, and then returned home on furlough. On his way back to the front he called at the House of Commons and asked for Mr. Edwards. "He refused to shake hands with me," said that gentleman, "and asked: 'What have you done for our homes? I left a happy home—I came back to find my wife a drunkard, my children neglected, my home broken up. You expect us to put our bodies between you and your enemies, but you will not put even a trench between the drink enemy and our homes.'"

PERILS OF BEER DRINKING.

It is difficult to find a beer drinker forty years of age with a normal liver, kidneys or heart. These vital organs, from the excessive burden that is thrown upon them, wear out prematurely. The beer drinker may have an abundance of flesh, but it is of inferior quality. Surgeons do not care to operate upon him, because the chances of recovery are minimized.

"Should the beer drinker be stricken down with pneumonia or some other febrile disease that taxes the heart and kidneys, he would have but three chances out of ten to make a recovery."—Dr. D. H. Kress in the Sunday School Times.

NO LOSS IN REVENUE. The loss of liquor revenue by the enactment of a prohibition law by Newfoundland, making illegal the importation and sale of intoxicating liquor after December 31, 1916, has not resulted in a decrease in the revenues of that country. The revenue for the calendar year 1917, amounting to $4,442,476, was greater by $25,807 than that for 1916, when liquors were still being imported.

"Intoxicants pull apart. The call of the times is—'Together.'"

For Aching Feet.

For burning, swollen feet soak them every night in a solution of soda water. Put a handful or more of bicarbonate of soda in the foot tub with sufficient very hot water to cover the feet. Keep adding more hot water as needed. After this, rub well into the bunions and other sore joints Ichthol ointment. Wrap feet in cloth, or put old stockings on to protect bed. Use some kind of foot ease in your shoes.

"GINGLES JINGLES"

PLAYING THE FIDDLE.

It's nice to fiddle, right you should—to play the fiddle, does you good, but if you play when you should work, you waste your time and learn to shirk; but when you're sure you've done your best and know that you deserve a rest, though folks complain as many will, and say that you're a worthless pill; just grab your fiddle, play a tune, and you will find out very soon, that you'll feel cheerful, bright and good, to shake the blues will be a pud; but when at work forget your play, and put your fiddle right away. Apply yourself with all your soul. Aim high and strive to reach your goal. Work hard for that's the way to win; the job's half done, when you begin, but when all in and tired out, don't sit around and whine and doubt. Just get your fiddle by the gills and fill your carcass full of thrills. If you can't fiddle, you can walk, or read a book or have a talk. The fiddles do not all have strings; they're hobbies with good cheer rings. The fiddling spirit is our need, that from our task we can be freed. Old Nero fiddled, which was sound, while Rome was burning to the ground. He did not fret, he did not stew, as you or I no doubt would do. He was no fire department guy, so simply passed the matter by. The man who fiddles never sours, but fiddles down, ing fiddling hours.

WAR FINANCE CORPORATION AIDS FARMERS.

In compliance with telegraphed instructions from Secretary McAdoo, the War Finance Corporation has wired Federal reserve banks at Dallas, Kansas City, and Minneapolis to notify banks and trust companies in their respective districts, nonmembers as well as members of the Federal Reserve System, of the willingness of the corporation to make advances to these financial institutions which had made loans to farmers and cattlemen.

Droughts in these districts are creating a serious condition for the farmers and this action is taken to relieve the situation.

Secretary McAdoo stated that no industry was more vital to the war than raising wheat, corn, live stock, and other food products, and that the banks should make loans on the notes of farmers since they are engaged in an industry not only necessary and contributory to the winning of the war but vital to it.
